Section 3: Value You Already Bring

Instead of focusing on what you lack, identify what you already bring that's valuable:

Three unique experiences from my background that benefit my clients:

Section 4: Strategic Decision Making

Based on your audit, which (if any) upgrades would genuinely move your business forward? Why?

What is one way you could better leverage something you already have before purchasing anything new?

Carrie Olsen lives and breathes voiceover. She is represented by one of the top voiceover agencies in the country and records audio from her home studio for brands like Home Chef, Grammarly, Gatorade, Disney, TNT, Netflix, Schwab, and many more. As a former e-learning developer, she brings her passion for the voiceover industry to her students through engaging, carefully crafted online courses.

When she first started in VO, she described her approach to marketing herself as "ferocious." In her business coaching and courses, she teaches her students that same ferocious approach to moving the needle in their businesses.
